UCC is going to accept en masse any of our current courses that we want to make available for 0 credit hours. This is useful for tracking high impact practices such as 285s, 485s, 491s, etc where students want the experience but don't want pay tuition and won't use their allotted hours in these courses. It's not clear if the students will still have to pay fees. If I can get a list of these courses to Sandra by January 14, these changes will go into the Fall 15 catalogue.

Also, all CVM courses plus the research certificate passed the UCC today.
