Brief program description (provide a catalog description for undergraduate and graduate certificates):

The Department of Philosophy offers a Pre-law Certificate that is primarily guided by the published recommendations of the American Bar Association (A.B.A.). The A.B.A. encourages prospective law students to pursue classes that cultivate a set of skills that will enhance the study of law while at Law School. The study of philosophy typically develops this recommended skill set. To this end, Philosophy’s Pre-law Certification requires that students take philosophy classes that lend themselves to the cultivation of the following:

1. Problem Solving involves “courses and other experiences that will engage [students] in critical thinking about important issues, challenge ... beliefs and improve ... tolerance for uncertainty and criticism.”

2. Critical Reading involves “close reading and critical analysis of complex textual material.”

3. Writing and Editing involves “preparing original pieces of substantial length and revising written work in response to constructive criticism. [...] Language is the most important tool of a lawyer, and lawyers must learn how to express themselves clearly and concisely.”

4. Oral Communication and Listening involves “the ability to speak clearly and persuasively... and excellent listening skills.”

5. Research involves “undertaking a project that requires significant library research and the analysis of large amounts of information obtained from that research.”

The Certification requires students to take 12 hours of philosophy classes: three hours of which help with LSAT preparation; three hours introduce students to the philosophy of law or social political philosophy; and 6 addition hours at the 300-400 level, with at least 3 hours in a writing intensive philosophy class.

If existing faculty will contribute to program, include costs necessary to maintain existing programs (e.g., cost of adjunct to cover courses previously taught by faculty who would teach in new program).
2. Specify other costs here (e.g., administrative costs, travel).
3. Indicate formula funding for students new to the institution because of the program; formula funding should be included only for years three through five of the program and should reflect enrollment projections for years three through five.
